

Family INVITED

This RV will have you, the kids and even a few friends touring the country

Accommodating, unique, generous and comfortable are words that shouldn't be thrown around too loosely, as they start to lose their integrity after a while but they are all perfect words to describe the Cell Homestead.

This generously sized RV includes sleeping accommodation for up to seven people and two different bedrooms. Plenty of storage throughout the cabin and a slide-out feature mean a spacious cabin that makes living in the caravan easy - even with a full house.

Make the most of outdoor living with an extra kitchen outside, a hot and cold exterior shower and a large electric awning - all great features to make the most of your trip. In fact, beneath this awning is barely recognisable as an awning and after a while it becomes like the classic Australian veranda. Most importantly, this is a caravan for the entire family to enjoy.

Strong and sturdy are the two most important words when discussing an RV's framework and these two words can easily describe the Homestead. Aluminium-welded walls, roof and floor create structural strength that you will rely on for years. A fibreglass exterior with sandwich panels on the walls and roof will be capable of handling the more wild elements and won't suffer heavily from wear and tear. Foam-brick insulation throughout and insulation bats in the floor make climate control easy in the heat and the cold.

Fitted out in the en suite is a sink, vanity, Theford toilet and shower. The shower includes a chrome shower head with an extra on/off switch. Plenty of storage makes this space very functional. Power outlets mean using an electric toothbrush or hairdryer is easy and a good solid door into the bathroom provides security and permanence that you won't find in many caravan en suites.

A generously sized 12V powered Dometic awning provides the family with plenty of space to relax under while enjoying a barbecue or picnic. It can also be rolled out to provide quick shade or protection from the elements in just 30 seconds.

An outdoor shower with hot and cold water is another feature that is sure to be popular with the entire family. This shower is perfect for washing off the sand after a swim at the beach or even giving the fishing gear a good wash-down before bringing it into the cabin.

A state-of-the-art Jensen Premier entertainment system including the usual features as well as two HD LED televisions will keep you and the family entertained on your travels. The television in the living area can also be swivelled so as to be viewed from the main bedroom, while the other television is located in the other bedroom. Best of all, a Jack digital antenna ensures you get quality reception across the country.

The giant slide-out room in the Homestead is big enough for the entire family and also includes a couch and dining area that can be easily converted into two king single beds. The slide-out is moved in and out by two 12V motors and it takes just 20 seconds to complete the slide, meaning you can press the button, put the kettle on and before the kettle has even boiled, the slide-out will be complete.

In the second bedroom, a Dometic front-loading washing machine is situated to help you wash the dust from your clothes as you travel the nation. While this RV has generously sized water tanks, a front loading washing machine is an especially smart choice to take away on your next RV adventure as it uses less water.

A generously sized two-door 185L fridge/freezer is large enough that it can be packed to the brim at a start of a long holiday you'll have food for weeks on end. Stainless steel sinks, three gas burners and a convection oven/grill/microwave will allow you to prepare delicious meals each night. Dometic 240V air conditioning will allow you to stay cool during those hot and sticky summer nights heating or snug and warm in the chilly winter nights.

One of the most efficient ways of maximising sleeping space has always been bunk beds and the Homestead's second bedroom can be optioned to include four bunk beds or three individual beds. This way the kids can come along with you while you explore the country, they might even be able bringing a couple of friends. This is perfect for weekend trips away. The second bedroom layout with three beds also includes a desk, meaning the second bedroom can also double as a study for the kids or a private place to get some work done.
